Visual style guide

The leading woman / VISUAL HANDBOOK

Proposed art direction using the concept portrait as a reference—not a finalized character asset specification.

01 / Silhouette & wardrobe

Tailored separates and fluid layers with a distinct, practical silhouette. Styling follows the character's decisions, not decorative glamour alone.

02 / Color & texture

Ink, ivory and deep burgundy with tactile woven fabrics and selective metallic detail; preserve natural skin texture without beauty-filter smoothing.

03 / Light & framing

Soft window light and clear separation from the background. Eye-level portraits and purposeful negative space give her agency within the frame.

04 / Movement & continuity

Attentive pauses followed by confident gestures; motivated camera movement and consistent facial landmarks. Avoid objectifying crops or imitation of real performers.

Continuity priority: preserve original identity across wardrobe, lighting, expression and localized versions. Review source assets and disclose synthetic imagery.

Representative content treatment

60–90-second character drama · proposed

A room of her own

After a difficult meeting, a founder revisits a marked-up proposal in her studio. The conflict is expressed through listening, a small physical choice and one clear statement.

01 Opening: a medium shot places her beside a proposal bearing someone else’s revisions.

02 Turn: she listens to a voice message, pauses and delivers the sample line without raising her voice.

03 Resolution: she opens a fresh page and begins a new plan; the camera stays at her eye level.

Proposed deliverables

Proposed package: dialogue script, performance beat sheet and a captioned cinematic test, with a separate editorial still selection; not a released drama or fashion campaign.

Illustrative scene proposal only. No completed footage, release, client engagement or platform partnership is claimed.
